From constantly
“Thinking to Pause”

its time to “Pause and Think”

the amazing transitional journey our profession (Internal Audit) has gone through and appreciate this amazing transformation and celebrate it to the core.

From being a small insignificant necessary evil and a subset of Finance to being an overall subsuming function at par with all other relevant functions and reporting to the Board, Internal Audit has come a long way.

The “Process Compliance” focus has given way to a “Process Relevance” approach and the entire psyche of the Internal Auditor has evolved from having a transactional view to a strategic vision.

Join us in celebrating the function and introspecting what the future holds for us and what we hold for the future.

The day long conference shall take us into an engaging inclusive journey to look at

Audit Goes Digital:

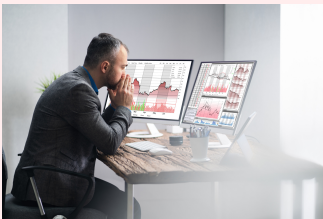

Audit Goes Digital: Hear from Industry Thought leaders on how the latest fads are being incorporated in the Audit Process making it more effective, efficient and enthusiastic

Future Ready Auditor :

Engage in unravelling the twin questions of the moment – “Are we future ready”? and “is the future ready for a rejuvenated us?” – The session will delve on what is being done and what more is to be done to embrace changes to make us ready for the future from a professional, emotional and digital parlance

Emerging Risk :

As the old idiom goes – Change is the only constant, hear leaders on the high scale and rate of changes in the risk ecosystem which is the core driver of all our endeavours. By the end of this session we should be able to answer “Are we transforming, Are we transforming enough, are we transforming enough rapidly”

Technology :

Internal Auditors need to be over obsessed with this. Technology is forcing us to relook at the way we work, what we should look at, where should our focus be, How can we be sure of our coverage, whom should we involve etc. This session focusses to deep dive on these challenges
